

SUSTAINABLE FASHION WEEK

#MendItMay 2024

SUSTAINABLE FASHION WEEK

#MendItMay

Across May, SFW's #MendItMay invites our audience to mend clothing to keep it alive. Celebrating repair as an act of empowerment.

From 1st May we will run our annual digital campaign on Instagram, to people to get mending and share their achievements, big or small, with us.

We'll showcase the mending - whether visible or invisible, creative or practical - to demonstrate the power of repair and collective action.

SUSTAINABLE FASHION WEEK

#MendItMay

CALL TO ACTION

Mend one piece of clothing in May to save it from landfill.

GOAL

200 items saved from landfill

MESSAGING

Whether mended by hand or machine, invisibly or creatively, at home or by a professional - participants are asked to share and celebrate the power of mending and to encourage others to do the same.

SUSTAINABLE FASHION WEEK

#MendItMay

HOW TO PARTICIPATE

Mend something, or get something mended

Take a pic or video - of the mending in progress, the finished article, or styling the repaired garment

Post to Instagram on the grid, in stories or
on a reel

Tag us and use the
hashtag #MendItMay.
We'll reshare and
showcase the results

SUSTAINABLE FASHION WEEK

#MendItMay

HOW TO GET MORE REACH?

Can you help share our campaign's Call to Action to reach more people?

SFW

The Good Clothes Show

Repair What You Wear

Instagram
influencers

You?

SUSTAINABLE FASHION WEEK

#MendItMay

WHY?

By extending the life of a garment by an extra 9 months reduces its environmental impact by 20-30% (Traid)

Extending the average life of clothes by a third while reducing the need for new clothing would reduce the carbon, waste, and water footprints from the production stage by more than 20% (Nottingham Trent University)

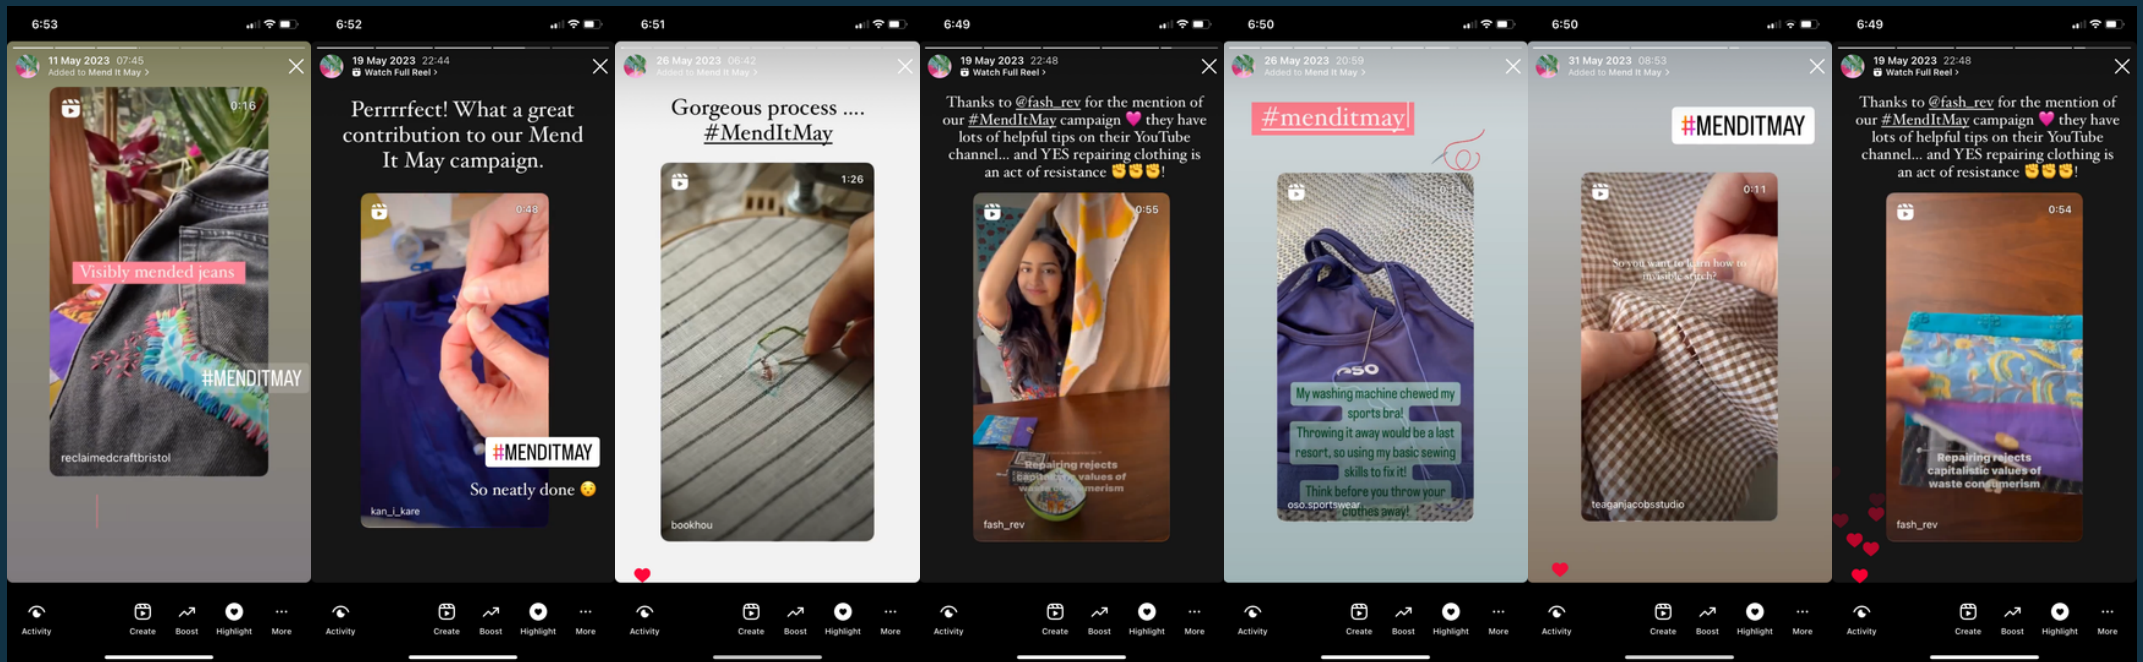

77% of those asked at our clothes repair workshop said that they would keep the item that they had mended for at least another 3 years with a third of people stating that they would keep the item for more than 10 years. (Traid)

An estimated £140m worth of clothing is sent to landfill every year. (WRAP)

SUSTAINABLE FASHION WEEK

#MendItMay

Get in touch:
amelia@asinglethread.uk